California Civil Rights Foundation Supports Personhood Mississippi

UNION CITY, CA— On Monday, July 19th, 2010 Walter Hoye, Founder and President of the California Civil Rights Foundation (CCRF) comments on the recently filed Planned Parenthood and ACLU injunction against Mississippi's Secretary of State to block a vote on the Mississippi Personhood Amendment.

“In order to justify the inhumane treatment of African American slaves and soothe the conscious of the Americans, dehumanizing terminology or the "language of oppression" was established and propagated by way of both "academic" and "legal" opinion at the very highest levels of our educational and legal communities.

In 1857 the U.S. Supreme Court decided: "A Negro of the African race was regarded ... as an article of property ... a subordinate and inferior class of being." In 1858, the Virginia Supreme Court declared: "In the eyes of the law ... the slave is not a person." In 1867, Buckner Payne, Publisher: "The Negro is not a human being." In 1900, Professor Charles Carroll: "The Negro is ... one of the lower animals." In 1903 Dr. William English: "The negro race is ... a heritage of organic and psychic debris." In 1909, Dr. E. T. Brady: "They [Negroes] are parasites." In 1973, the U.S. Supreme Court decided: "The Fetus, at most, represents only the potentiality of life."

Today, it appears that Planed Parenthood and the ACLU have joined forces to continue using the legal language of oppression against the preborn child and the more than 100,000 Mississippi residents who signed a legal petition, asking for the right to vote on the Mississippi Personhood Amendment, by filing an injunction against Mississippi's secretary of state to block the ballot measure.

There is nothing new under the sun. History teaches us, time and time again, that the use of oppressive language to demonize and dehumanize certain segments of the human race is incontestably evil. I have family in Mississippi and I want Les Riley and Personhood Mississippi to know, that I and all those fighting the incontestable evil of the abortion industry are standing with them.
